

Bioethanol & Biodiesel Pumping Solutions

Sumber Waja is a major supplier of pumps for bioethanol and biodiesel production throughout the world. We have a broad range of installations and references as well as the expertise to help you to select the most economical solution based upon your requirements.

Sumber Waja and SIHI Pumps have developed a unique concept to assist during the engineering phase as well as support you throughout the life cycle of the installation.

Your benefits include:

- All pumps sourced from one supplier reducing purchasing cost
- We support you from our various locations around the world with dedicated project teams
- We supply 3D outline models to speed up your engineering process
- Local service centres secure efficient operation of the pumps and reduce MTBF